

Introducing our New Executive Chef - Eric Robertson

R. J. Corman Railroad Group, is proud to welcome Eric Robertson, as the new Executive Chef for My Old Kentucky Dinner Train in historic Bardstown, Kentucky. Eric brings a wealth of culinary experience to the dinner train and we hope you too will enjoy his flavorful dishes. He has already made some new and delicious additions to the menu, so make sure to check www.kydinnertrain.com regularly for the most up-to-date menu.

Eric is a native of Russell County, Kentucky and like most in the food service industry Eric began his career washing dishes at the age of 15. However, it was not long before he was cooking. While attending Western Kentucky University, Eric worked as a cook at then University Plaza and Convention Center. There he apprenticed under Executive Chef Veronica Copeland, whom he credits as being his biggest culinary influence. He went on to work for the Kentucky Department of Parks where he was the Executive Chef at Natural Bridge State Park for a while before relocating to Frankfort. In Frankfort, Eric managed all aspects of the cafeteria operations for the Department of Parks in the government buildings and Capital. He also oversaw the catering for such government functions as the Governor's Derby Breakfast, the Governor's Annual Prayer Breakfast, and the annual Legislative Sessions just to name a few.

Eric graduated from Eastern Kentucky University where he majored in Business Communications. Eric has been married to his wife Amy for two years, and they have just welcomed their first child, Parker, in March of this year.

We invite you to join us on My Old Kentucky Dinner Train to experience not only the southern charm of a train ride through the rolling Kentucky hillside, but the exceptional meal prepared just for you.
